Visitor sites continued overleaf

Opening times of all buildings are given and church service times are indicated. All visitors are welcome to participate.

On Doors Open Day * Ayrshire a warm welcome is extended to you to enter and explore many buildings of various types and different historical periods which are either not frequently accessible to the general public or where a charge is usually made. All in their individual ways are significant examples of Ayrshire's cultural and architectural heritage.

Admission to all buildings is free on these days.

Doors Open Day * is a Council of Europe initiative and in 50 countries it will be celebrated with the opening of some of each country's most impressive buildings to heighten the public's awareness of their own heritage.

In Scotland, Doors Open Day * is promoted by the Scottish Civic Trust. In Ayrshire it is supported by East Ayrshire Council, North Ayrshire Council, South Ayrshire Council, Home Energy Scotland and Energy Agency. The event is organised by Kyle and Carrick Civic Society with help from other voluntary groups.

The Society would like to express its gratitude to all those who have so readily co-operated in opening their buildings. It is only through their generosity and support, together with the help of their guides, that such a day is possible. Please note that visitors enter the buildings at their own risk: neither sponsors nor participants are responsible for any accidents or damage incurred.

MAUCHLINE

National Burns Memorial Homes

Next to National Burns Memorial Tower

Designed by William Fraser, the cottages were built 1896-8 in red sandstone to provide accommodation and facilities for elderly residents as a living memorial to Robert Burns a hundred years after his death. Buildings were added 1909-10, 1930-1 and 1938. The inhabitants look out on the landscape, the village and the surroundings that Burns wrote about. No other memorial reflects the spirit of Robert Burns in this unique way.

Open Sunday 12.30 – 4 p.m. KA5 5LQ

National Burns Memorial Tower

Designed by William Fraser, 1897, to commemorate the centenary of Burns' death. Today it houses the gallery of Johnston Fine Arts. Elaine Johnston welcomes you to take in the beauty of the building, the fine art oil paintings and spectacular views over the Ayrshire countryside to Arran.

Open Saturday and Sunday, 9 a.m. – 5 p.m. KA5 5LQ
